1 Death Valley combines dramatic light with a wild location! Its colors and shapes are simply magnificent, and its history unmatched. Thousands of plant species bloom among the salt flats and soft dunes. Ride through gorgeous canyons, natural bridges and vibrantly colored badlands on a dune buggy adventure!

2 Monterey County is brimming with iconic Californian experiences. Enjoy gourmet seaside restaurants in Monterey, sample the hillside vineyards in Salinas Valley, and drive along winding Highway 1 through the breathtaking coastline of Big Sur and the redwood groves.

3 The Point Reyes peninsula just north of San Francisco boasts some of the most scenic beaches in the entire United States. They stretch undeveloped for ten miles, and if you're lucky you can see whales migrating past the Lighthouse. Hike along the cliff tops on one of the National Seashore trails to get a panoramic view of unspoiled coastline.

4 We provide a unique view of the "Undiscovered County." The nearly empty forests and beaches still retain their old-world charm, as does the colonial style architecture. There are spectacular redwoods to wander through and mountainous views that will take your breath away.
